

26 TYPE BRAKE EQUIPMENTS

Rubber Repair Kits

APRIL, 1959

(Ref: TOP: 48. 128)

The widespread acceptance of 26 Type Brake Equipments for switcher and road locomotives, as well as for railroad passenger cars, has brought about the innovation of "Rubber Item Repair Kits" that contain rubber items required during periodic cleaning periods of specific valves. The repair kits are classified in two categories: a kit that contains all of the rubber items necessary during the major repair of a device; and a kit that contains only those rubber parts that move within the valve. The kit of moving rubber parts is made up of only "O" rings and does not include diaphragms. This was established since even though diaphragms are actuated as frequently as are "O" rings, it is generally agreed that diaphragm replacements would be required less often.

Each repair kit is packaged in a single container and thus covered by one piece number. In this manner, each kit may be stored to provide a single readily accessible kit that contains the proper items during that specific cleaning or repair operation. All rubber items should be stored in a cool dry place and in localities away from machines that emit electric arcs, since it has been revealed that electric arcing does have a detrimental effect upon all stored rubber goods.

The following tabulation provides the consist of the individual items contained in each kit. It will be noted that since the Service Portions for the 26-C and 26-F Control Valves are the same, the repair kits are identical. Similarly, the Quick Release Portions for the 26-D and 26-F Control Valves are identical and therefore the repair kits are the same.
